WHAT TO KNOW BEFORE YOU START LEARNING FRENCH?

---

The 8 most important rules:

1. Gender of nouns

French has two genders (masculine and feminine) but not only for people, for everything around you. Every object, every animal, everything has a gender. Because of this, when studying vocabulary, always study vocabulary with an article in front (Un – Une and Le – La).

2. Plural of Nouns

The plural of nouns in French isn't pronounced. We can distinguish the difference between singular and plural nouns by the article in front (Les – Des) and by the conjugation of the verb.

3. On and Nous

In French, we use a subject pronoun that doesn't exist in English. On is the equivalent of nous (we) but it is conjugated like he or she, as a singular pronoun. On is the casual nous, nous being more often used for formal speaking and writing.

4. Il and elle

As I said earlier, everything in French has a gender, therefore, the neutral doesn't exist. Only Il (he) and Elle (she) is used for everything and everyone.

5. Silent letters

As you will see in the pronunciation videos, written French and spoken French look like two different languages. The main reason is because French has a lot of silent letters. We will see them in the pronunciation lessons.

6. The sounds

French has a lot of specific sounds made of 2 or more letters. While in English most letters are pronounced individually, French uses specific sounds for each letter combination.

7. The liaisons

A final note about pronunciation is the liaisons. When hearing French, you might think that some sounds appear out of nowhere between two words. This is what is called "une liaison". We use them to have a better flow of pronunciation.

8. Être and avoir

Être (to be) and avoir (to have) are the 2 most used French verbs. The biggest problem comes from their uses in simple situations such as saying that you are hungry or even telling your age. While English uses «to be» to talk about most things about yourself, French uses the verb «to have» – To have hunger, to have 34 years old, etc.

HOW TO STUDY?

This is a question that I have gotten from people of all ages and all backgrounds. I tried to find the best way to study for everyone many times. Until I realized that I have no answer for it, besides studying the way that works for you. We have all been to school for many years, studied for many hours, and most likely develop a method that works for us.

I personally have a photographic memory and have found that writing and reading were the best practices when learning a language. This is the way I was taught at school, and it still worked when I decided to learn English as an adult.

Where to start?

All the lessons suggested in this self-study guide are my own and follow my 5 books:

The Complete French Grammar Course

The Complete French Pronunciation Course

The Complete French Vocabulary Course

The Complete French Conjugation Course

The Complete French Expressions and Idioms Course

All my books

The videos are free to watch but the accompanying audio and exercises are only available if you purchase the books. Click on each of the titles to find out how to get them as a paperback, a PDF, or as an eBook.

French pronunciation

The first thing that you should study is pronunciation. As said earlier in the most important rules to remember, written French and spoken French are like two different languages.

But why?

Learning the pronunciation rules, how the spelling impacts the pronunciation and vice versa, will give you a great foundation. You will be able to connect spoken French and written French. Do not pass up this opportunity to make your French learning easier.

French grammar and conjugation

French grammar and conjugation are 2 different books, 2 different courses. Why? Because they are both more than 400 pages. This was the only way I could cover all the points I wanted to and offer a true complete course for each.

In this self-study guide, I combined both courses to create what I believe is the simplest path to learn French. In doing so, you will get the chance to learn in detail every aspect of French grammar and French conjugation.

What verbs and what tenses to study?

I usually recommend learning the 10 most important verbs and to study the verbs that you use the most in your own language.

The 10 most important verbs are:

- Être – To be
- Avoir – To have
- Faire – To do / To make
- Aller – To go
- Falloir – To be necessary
- Mettre – To put
- Vouloir – To want
- Pouvoir – To be able to
- Devoir – To have to
- Dire – To tell / To say

What tenses should you study?

There are many tenses in French but here are the ones that you will use and encounter most:

- Le présent de l'indicatif – The present tense
- Le passé composé – The perfect tense
- L'imparfait – The imperfect tense
- Le passé récent – The recent past
- Le futur simple – The future tense
- Le futur proche – The near future
- Le conditionnel présent – The present conditional
- L'impératif – The imperative
- Le subjonctif – The subjunctive
- Le subjonctif passé – The past subjunctive
- Le plus-que-parfait – The pluperfect
- Le futur antérieur – The future perfect
- Le conditionnel passé – The conditional perfect
- Le participe présent et le gérondif – The present participle and gerund
- La voix passive – The passive voice

In the second part of this self-study guide (grammar and conjugation), I will walk through all the tenses you need to learn.

French vocabulary

Vocabulary is a very specific subject. I made a course/book about all the subjects you need and could need. Incorporate it slowly into your learning journey or tackle it all at once. The choice is yours.

But no matter how you learn, always study French by word families (I wrote a dictionary with this method), this will multiply your vocabulary in no time!

How to learn vocabulary?

This is a very personal question and I have a very personal answer. It all depends on the words you use daily. By following all the lessons from this self-study guide, you will learn a lot of vocabulary. Simply add to this knowledge by being curious and asking yourself how would I say that in French? Do I know the word for this in French? You are in the best position to know what words you know and what words you use.

French listening practice

You should spend a lot of time listening to French, but only after the pronunciation course. The best way is to listen to an audio book, or any audio, and reading at the same time. You can find my recommendations for books at the end of this guide.

Without further ado, here is your self-study list of all the lessons you will need to reach a good fluency in French.

Click on “The lesson” to be redirected to the video-lesson. Use the next column to follow the exercises and recordings for each course.

Book recommendations

Read what you enjoy. Even a book that you read in English and you enjoyed, try re-reading it in French. I am a big fan of Harry Potter and I read them all in English as soon as I felt confident enough to do so. Click on the book to access it.
